School Board wants a meaningful drug program

After a discussion on drug misuse in which students themselves contributed their views the Carmel Unified School District board approved three suggestions for action proposed by Supt. Harrison Taylor. Taylor called on members of the community to accept a great part of the responsibility in his program, "...for," he stated, "the question of drug abuse is a community problem. ..."

Proposal one dealt with a more comprehensive program of instruction in the area of drug misuse especially for grades 4 and 5. It was recommended that a committee of teachers and administrators be formed to develop the program, employ resource personnel and certified staff and to purchase materials for review.

The second proposal suggested ways to more effectively involve children and youth in wholesome, extra curricular activities. A

Sunset manager post open with new specifications

By GUNNAR NORBERG

Today the City of Carmel is taking applications for the position just vacated by Cole Weston, who resigned when his requested leave-of-absence was refused.

Weston's job was identified as Sunset Center Manager, but his work included management of the city's Forest Theater as well. He was employed by the City Council, but he reported to the Cultural Commission and to City Administrator Hugh Bayless, who serves the Cultural Commission as its secretary.

Bayless presented a revised job specification formula for the position vacated by Weston, as the last City Council meeting, and the Council approved it.

Main differences in the revised job formula suggests that the new occupant of the position is to be more office-bound, that his hours are generally to be like those of other office workers, that night-time stage-manager functions are to be performed on a part-time basis by what Weston identified as 'stage-hand' help.

Bayless summarized the intent of the new job specifications as indicating that Weston's successor, whenever he is employed, would be more "manager than artist". The implication seemed to be that the city's next Sunset manager, would perform mostly landlord and fund-raising functions, though it appeared also to be intended that he would 'supervise' the City's long-established summer Sunday afternoon programs at the Forest Theater.

Asked when he expected Weston's job to be filled, Bayless said he was looking toward the first of January as a likely date. The City Council will of course do the actual employing.

Meanwhile the City Council, its Cultural Commission, and the people of Carmel, have a chance to survey the question of just what kind of "cultural manager" the City should next have. (While the revised job specification formula has been tentatively approved, it is subject to further revision or modification in any way the Council may later choose.)

And that, in turn, involves a possible reconsideration of just what kind of culture or just what kind of culture-related activity the City should indeed sponsor and support.

A proposal made, again and again, both before the Cultural Commission and before City Council, has never been given the degree of consideration it deserves.

That proposal is for the City to start to re-establish its own special cultural tradition in the theater. In the early years of this century, and intermittently through the years since then, the name of Carmel has stood for 'firsts' in the theater. Premiers of original plays were once every-year events in Carmel — and they can be again — and at far less cost than the City has incurred in recent years for something it has loosely lumped under the name of 'culture'.

But, if this ever-to be the case, the City needs to replace Weston with someone who could do what Weston was supremely fitted to do. That was to cast, stage, and direct plays. And the plays should mainly be 'firsts' — new plays by new playwrights. The City's Cultural Commission could establish awards, in a suitable amount, and then produce the plays for which those awards would be made. The authors could be local people or people from anywhere. Even if admission prices were to be modest a substantial portion of production costs could usually be recovered. And, as a possible Carmel Festival of Original Drama, were to become a looked-for annual event on the California calendar, Carmel could once again take its proper place as a source of significant 'firsts' in the theater.

In years past, a large portion of the Carmel community took part in the production of original plays, and it could do so again, if the City were to make the opportunity available. For this is the particular kind of theater activity which was once especially Carmel's own — at once its unique recreation and culture!

Letters to the editor

Editor, Carmel Pine Cone:

An America divided? Yes, on many issues, and at all levels. For example, on Nov. 8 I intruded upon a gathering at the Monterey Plaza carrying a sign saying, "Prove your courage. Send a boy to die in Vietnam." A member of the group became so incensed that he challenged me to a duel. I admired his control. If I had been half as angry as he, I would have swung first and challenged later.

I really wanted to shake his hand. Here was a man deeply concerned about his country. To him, I represented a threat to his country. Simply because I carried a sign, I was instantly placed in the same class as radical revolutionaries who are indeed a threat to our country.

Individually, this man and I were trying to achieve the same thing - a strong, secure, lasting America. Our motives were identical, our goals were exactly the same, yet we were miles apart on the proper means of achieving these goals.

This is reflected nation-wide by perhaps 95 percent of our population. The other 5 percent will include radicals attempting to prolong the war by discrediting dissent, and some selfish interests more interested in monetary or political gain than in America's future.

America was footing 80 percent of France's attempts to maintain Indo-China as a colony even before the defeat at Dienbenphu in 1954. So we have had 15 years to study our involvement, yet probably less than 3 percent of our people have taken the trouble to find out what the real issues are, even though almost everyone has formed opinions on how to go about either continuing or discontinuing what we are doing, and these opinions largely decide government policy. It would appear that any intelligent course of action will require objective, intelligent appraisal of the problems and possible courses of action. An America guided by greed, emotionalism, misguided patriotism, misinformation and distrust cannot survive.

Show at Aardvark

The Aardvark Gallery in Bernadelli Square, Carmel Valley will open a new show with a special preview party this Friday evening from 6:00 p.m. to 8:30 p.m. The public is invited to the opening which marks the first one-woman show for Carmel artist Jean Wilsdon, wife of Carmel attorney, Richard Wilsdon.

The exhibition at The Aardvark will hang through the month of December.

EDITOR'S NOTE - Do the trials and woes of the work-a-day world make you forget for a moment that you live in the nicest place in the world?

Then read this letter from a Pine Cone subscriber and you'll feel lots better. We certainly do. Thank you, Mr. Shooter, and welcome.

Dear Sir:

I have been a subscriber to the Pine Cone for some months now. After several visits to Carmel and its environs, my wife and I have decided to make it our home.

Would you please print the following in your Real Estate Wanted column:

"Young Canadian couple favored to have discovered Carmel and in the immediate future, most favored to alled it home, wish to purchase a Guest House. Its essential ingredient will embody the grace, charm and uniqueness that is the Carmel elan."

I shall repeat what no doubt you have heard many times before, that the Pine Cone captures and perpetuates the special atmosphere that is Carmel. In the growing world of concrete, skyscrapers, thruways and suburbs that is modern Toronto, the Pine Cone provides the weekly reaffirmation of what nature and man can achieve when in accord.

Yours very truly,
 J.R. Shooter

Editor:

Taking my cue from your "Editor's Note" introducing excerpts from my speech at the American Unity Rally at the Customs House Plaza on Nov. 9th, I am minded to offer my congratulations on the excellence of your editorial condensation.

On one point thereof I am however uncertain and would like to offer this clarification.

The occasion being an American Unity one, I felt impelled to make demand that American Unity be grounded in Liberty, the raison d'etre of American being.

To this end I offered the most eloquent bit of early American oratory ever presented in that cause: Webster's Reply to Hayne as of 20th Jan. 1830, ending in those imperishable words: "...Liberty AND Union, NOW and forever..."

That these timeless words of a more valiant age in American history are not without their counterpart in dedicated Americanism of today, I brought to the attention of my listeners in the current "Malcolm Thompson" letter, the most moving and eloquent statement of our times of which I have knowledge. It should I believe, be treasured by every manly man in America. It read: "When they read my (dead) son's name to advocate peace (at any price) the

Sitar at MPC

Debu Chaudhuri, noted sitar player from India, accompanied by Sitaram Sharma on the tabla (drums) and Manjusree on the tamboura (a drone instrument), will perform in the Monterey Peninsula College music hall Saturday, Nov. 22, 8 p.m.

Tickets, at $1.50 for general admission and $1 for students, are available at the MPC community services office in the administration building afternoons or may be purchased at the door on the evening of the concert.

Debu, who is known for "making difficult ragas understandable," is a traditionalist. A disciple of Ustad Mushtaq Ali Khan, he plays in Senia style, a traditional school of Indian music. Despite "the Beatles, Yehudi Menuhin, the late John Coltrane and a few rock groups, who have made the sitar and raga music... 'In-things' in the West," Debu has been described as "not a pop musician, but certainly a popular musician."

Daniel Webster spoke in his day, Malcolm Thompson in ours. They spoke in a language understood by all manly men.

MPMA Christmas party

The Monterey Peninsula Museum of Art Association will present a new format for its well-known Christmas Creations event, to be called the "Festival of the Trees", on Dec. 5, 6, and 7.

Mrs. Norman D. Chasnoff, chairman, is planning the affair as a Christmas party for everyone in the area.

It is a fund-raiser for the non-profit museum and the first big event open to the public in the new museum headquarters at 559 Pacific Street, Monterey.

Friday, Dec. 5, there will be an Opening Night party, a Christmas Gala, for members and the general public, at a $4 donation per person.

Free champagne will flow from 6 til 7:30, and a no-host bar will be open from 6, with complimentary hors d'oeuvres being served. Music will be by "The Co-ops" — from the San Francisco Artists' Co-operative, Inc.

There will be handsome door prizes, including a Ruth Buol jewel painting and the use of a National Rental car for one week, to be given away on Sunday, Dec. 7 at the museum.

Volunteer Aides serve schools

The School Volunteer Aides of the Monterey Peninsula, formally organized this fall after a year of informal activities, now has more than 60 volunteers working in 14 schools, all of which are in the Monterey Peninsula Unified School District although the volunteers come from all communities of the area.

Thirteen aides are assigned to the Ord Terrace School in Seaside, one from Carmel, five from Monterey, and the other seven from Seaside.

Principal James Manning, new to the district this year, is pleased with the assistance SVA offers.

Assignments vary.

Several volunteers work in the school library on different days and for different hours. Many help teachers in reading or mathematics, especially for first grade although several are in third grade or sixth grade reading assignments.

One assists with remedial reading (a former teacher.)

Several help with lunchroom or playground supervision, or kindergarten programs, or do clerical work to relieve teachers who then can spend more time with children.

General chairman of SVA is Mrs. DeForest Sweeney of Carmel. Recruitment chairman is Mrs. Francis Hill of Monterey. Resource committee chairman, compiling a list of speakers to be available on request is Mrs. Kenneth Ehrman, formerly a member of the MPUSD Board of Education. She hopes for this Bicentennial year to have historians, curators of historical landmarks, and representatives of the many ethnic groups whose heritage spans Monterey Peninsula history (Chinese, Italian, Japanese, Mexican, Philippine, Portuguese, Spanish).

Volunteers may enlist in the program by calling the MPUSD personnel office, John Christ, assistant director of personnel, 372-7111, week-days 8 a.m. to noon and 1 to 5 p.m.

This year, in addition to the display and sale of unique and artistic Christmas decorations and accessories, the Festival committee has sold decorated Christmas trees to commercial and professional establishments.

The museum needs volunteers to help make the necessary ornaments now, and to decorate the trees at the end of November, as well as to prepare decorative items to sell at the Gourmet and Boutique booths, as well as the Children's booth.

December 6 will be "Children's Day" at the museum. The "Sugar Plum Fairy" will give youngsters Christmas treats to enjoy while they watch the puppets performing "Punch and Judy" — presented by puppeteers Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Winans. The puppet shows are scheduled for 11 a.m., 1, 3, and 4:30 p.m. with each performance to run about 40 minutes.

There will also be children's door prizes and a children's booth, stocked with gifts made by members, under the direction of Mrs. John H. Nail. All children are invited to attend this fun-filled "Sugar-plum Party". Donation will be $1 — 50¢ for children under six. Hours will be 10 'til 6 on Saturday.

On Sunday, Dec. 7, the museum Christmas party will continue from 1 'til 5, with everyone invited to visit the special booths and exhibits. The 5 o'clock awarding of door prizes will round out this "Happy Christmas Happening" — a gala "Festival of the Trees."

Second in concert series at PG Art Center Nov. 23

The Pacific Grove Art Center announces its second in its concert series to be held Sunday, Nov. 23 at 3:30 p.m.

The concert will feature vocalist Helen Wheeler accompanied by Jean S. Vincent, and flutist Raymond Fabrizio, accompanied by pianist Wade Parks. The afternoon will include selections from the composers Mozart, Bach, Handel, Brahms, and Schumann.

Helen Wheeler is a native of Austria and has studied voice in Linz and Vienna and is a graduate of the Vienna Opera. She has sung many leading roles at the Opera in Linz. Since coming to the Peninsula she has appeared in concerts in this area and has been soloist at the Church of Religious Science since 1965.

Jean S. Vincent, Miss Wheeler's accompanist, taught music in the Los Angeles secondary schools. She is a graduate of Washington State University with a Masters Degree from the University of Southern California. She has accompanied many singers and choral groups.

Fabrizio studied the flute under Merrill Jordan of the San Francisco Symphony Orchestra. He was first flutist with the Carmel Bach Festival and now plays with the Monterey County Symphony and the Crown Chamber Players of Crown College at University of California, Santa Cruz.

Tickets may be purchased at the Art Center and will also be available at the door on the afternoon of the concert.

Disclosure law, high cost disturb school board

Among the items covered by the Carmel Unified School District board in their monthly meeting was a proposed assembly bill and a request for a study of high costs in the district.

The proposed assembly bill is a disclosure law that would require all public officials and unpaid public servants to declare their business and private holdings.

The bill would affect local government officials as well as the school board, planning commission, elected councilmen and the mayor.

The members of the school board felt that this bill would discourage citizens from volunteering to serve their community and they voted to send letters to the governor and the state legislature asking that unpaid public servants be excluded from disclosing their financial holdings.

The board also requested that business manager Walter Hinton analyze the unit cost figures for average daily attendance and determine why the Carmel Unified School District is a high cost system compared to other districts.

Trustees Steven Sassoon and James Miller wished to compare costs in the Carmel District with those of Pacific Grove and Monterey. Last year, Carmel spent

River School welcomes expert

A five million dollar research program on individualized instruction will be discussed by Dr. William Shanner at the Carmel River School parent club meeting next week.

Dr. Shanner is the project evaluator of an experimental five year program that will enable children to study as individuals, moving to the next step in the learning process on the basis of their own achievement.

Computers are used to measure the daily progress of from 12 to 15,000 children to determine each child's daily schedule. The machines also analyze the educational resources of the school to best utilize them for the child's individual needs.

Dr. Shanner's analysis of this educational program of the future is open to interested parents and teachers, Tuesday, Nov. 25 at 7:30 p.m.

Board discusses plan of action with students

A joint committee consisting of Carmel High School students, a board member of the Carmel Unified School District and a district administrator will be appointed to establish a program to create better communication between the board and students. This action was proposed at a meeting of the Carmel Unified School District board in which its members and students outlined proposals to increase effective communications between students and administrators.

The decision to appoint a joint committee was reached after a discussion in which board members considered a proposal that would allow one non-voting student representative to sit on the Board of Education when issues affecting youth are being considered.

Trustee Steven H. Sassoon pointed out a disadvantage to this proposal would be the necessity of the student sitting through many items that were not of interest to the student body. He proposed holding several meetings with students to discuss items of greatest concern to them.

Dr. Harris Taylor agreed that Sassoon's method would provide more communication with the students, but still favored the proposal of the board.

Jim Heisinger, student body president, felt that a student representative could speak effectively for the student body because if a different representative were appointed on each issue, a good cross section of opinion would be provided.

Maddy Davis, another student agreed that a student representative would be a good idea, but felt that some issues would require more than one representative to provide a good cross section of opinion.

Larry Challis, a member of the student council, cautioned against a "rubber stamp" representative who would only be a figure head and would be unable to contribute in a worth while manner to board decisions.

Student Robert Faul suggested that the student representative be allowed to vote and propose items for the agenda.

Doctor Hilton Bialek pointed out that discussion forums could be set up between students and board members, but he cautioned the students against using their place on the council to by-pass decisions made by their principal that would not be under the jurisdiction of the school board.

What's doing?

Believe it or not, even telephone equipment has its own rugged "proving ground." At one of Bell Telephone Laboratories field testing sites near Chester, New Jersey, outdoor phone equipment is buried, frozen, submerged in "artificial oceans," and left exposed to harsh weather for years. Everything from cable to manhole covers is given a hard time. The purpose: to test its resistance to the rigors of nature. Telephone scientists and engineers want to make sure that by the time this equipment goes into service it'll be able to take almost anything nature can hand out.

If you're like me, you probably find that there are times when you tend to put off your personal letter writing. But you want to keep in touch with your family and friends. So here's a suggestion: let Pacific Telephone Lines help you pay them a visit. After 6 p.m. any day of the week it costs only 85 cents or less for three minutes, station-to-station, plus tax, from the Monterey Peninsula area to anywhere in California. It's the best way I know to "catch up" when you've been neglecting pen and paper. Besides, there's nothing quite like the sound of a loved one's voice. It's a round trip travel offer that's hard to beat!

Here's one for a smile. It's about a young, inexperienced PBX attendant whose newness at a large company switchboard made her a bit on the flustered side. When a signal came on the board from the firm's top executive, she became particularly anxious. "Miss Jones," he said, "please don't put through any calls to me this morning. I'll be incommunicado." Trying her best to be efficient she replied, "Yes, sir. But in case anything comes up, hadn't you better give me your number there?"

Movie Review

Darby O'Gill and the Little People — Walt Disney's delightful story of elderly Irish caretaker, Darby O'Gill (Albert Sharpe) and his adventures with the king of the leprechauns. Magic, Irish comedy, and a pleasant romance, naturally all turns out well. At the Valley Cinema.

Fanny Hill — An updated Swedish version of John Cleland's classic novel. Now set in Stockholm the film stars Dinan Kjaer in the title role. At the Steinbeck.

Hell in the Pacific — A powerful story about two men, one American and one Japanese alone on a deserted island during World War II. The unusual situation is the background for this psychological drama. Second feature is Marlowe. At the Village Theater.

The Undeclared — Battling it out toe to toe and side by side, they rode where no one else dared — Civil War drama starring John Wayne and Rock Hudson at the State.

The Good Guys and The Bad Guys — Tale of retired marshal (Robert Mitchum) and aging outlaw (George Kennedy) joining forces to thwart a robbery, adds up to good, clean — well, mostly clean — western fun. At the Grove.

Stage Review

Someone Waiting — At the Circle Theater. Skulduggery and skulking about in the best tradition of the suspense play. Revenge, hate and comedy all mixed about to produce a funny, terrifying evening with a topnotch cast headed by Roy Baxter and Gertrude Chappell. Better make reservations by calling 624-2669.

Black Comedy — at the Studio Theater. A comedy of confusion in which a conniving couple stage a luckless hoax on her stuffy father. Adding to their confusion is a power failure skillfully directed by Bill Asp. Edie Donahoe, and Richard Klein play the hapless couple with George Smith as the girl's stodgy father. Better make reservations by calling 624-1661 or 624-2321.

MELE—By the conclusion of "Black Comedy" at the Studio Theater-Restaurant, Brindley Miller (Richard Klein, right) has seen all his plans for an impressive evening go up in smoke. His decorator friend Harold Gorringe (Rod Allison, far left) and his prospective father-in-law Colonel Melkett (George Smith, next) are both ready to do him bodily harm, while wealthy art patron George Bamberger (John Sullivan, with derby and cane) has arrived much too late to retrieve his elaborate hoax. Together with the curtain-raiser "White Lies," "Black Comedy" plays Friday, Saturday and Sunday nights at the Studio through Dec. 13. Reservations may be made at 624-1661 or 624-2321.

"Thanksgiving from Albania to America"

First we must explain our title, for it is a far call from Albania (especially nowadays) to New England and then to Carmel.

If you read Nelo Drizari's latest book you'll understand. In his autobiography, the Carmel novelist and artist tells of an Albanian boy (himself) who was sent to New England to live there with his older brother and escape the crushing heel of the Ottoman Empire in his own land.

The story is realistically written, and as our column is about food... we quote about an Albanian custom concerning turkey.

"A big bronzed turkey was brought in on a copper platter and put in the center of the table. After Father carved the turkey, he gave the turkey haunch to my older brother. This was the piece of honor. It was always reserved for distinguished guests, excepting when we were just the family.

Then it was father's duty to take it for himself. But my brother picked up his plate and placed it before Father. 'Dinner is in honor of your going to America, my son. The hour is here,' said Father."

The result was that in a short time our Carmel author followed and joined his brother... as he graphically tells in "Four Seas to Dreamland."

A lively discussion has just taken place between Nelo and your columnist. "What vegetables did you have with your turkey?" "Turn to page 123 and you'll find out!"

Quoting from page 123: "roasted tomatoes, onions, squash and corn-on-the-cob were covered with flaming coals."

"Do you actually mean our kind of corn," Mrs. Party Plans asked, "I thought it was purely American!" "No, no, no," insisted Nelo. "In Albania we used to put real corn-on-the-cob over glowing embers and watch them until they became brown and crunchy."

PARTY PLANS . . .

by Phyllis Jervey

Not to create a big controversy, Phyllis Jervey is now quoting from her own feature "359 Years of Thanksgiving" (1621 to 1969), published a while ago.

"At the first Thanksgiving, at least two foods unknown in the Old World, corn and wild turkey were eaten at the feast!"

So a great deal of research has gone into this corn cultivation. To return to yesterday.

"The Mayflower had dropped anchor at Plymouth Rock on December 21, 1620, and the bitter cold winter was the cause of half of the pilgrims' dying of hunger.

"But in March, two Indians, Samoset of the Pemaquid tribe and Squanto of the Wampanoags, befriended the desolate colonists and gave them Indian corn. They told the pilgrims to plant the seed 'when the oak leaves are as big as mouse ears' and to catch fish to fertilize the soil. Thus the seeds were sown for our first Thanksgiving, 349 years ago!"

"The summer which followed was warm and bright, and the crops thrived. By late autumn, Governor Bradford invited Massasoit, grand sachem of the Pokanokets, to join the pilgrims in a feast of thanksgiving. Massasoit arrived with 90 of his tribe and stayed three nights and days."

Now, to get back to the title of our Thanksgiving issue, we've combined both Albanian and American specialties, and, strangely enough, they seem to

Wine. Black Coffee

In Albania," recalls Nelo, "Turkeys were penned and fed corn to fatten them. They were roasted over big clay ovens and turned on spits. The rich juices were caught in a large copper bucket. How good they tasted on our native fresh-from-the-oven round loaves of wheat bread!"

Why not try this method for next week's California turkey, modern style.

Barbecued Turkey

Here are the directions on how to barbecue a smaller bird (about 12 lbs.). You must of course own or borrow an electric rotisserie. Insert spit rod in front of tail; run it diagonally through bird so it will come out at the breastbone. Tighten spit forks. Roll rod on palms of hands to check balance.

Tie wings and drumsticks securely to bird with twine. Insert thermometer into thickest part of thigh. Attach spit. Brush with basting sauce. Start motor. Baste while barbecuing. Add charcoal as needed to maintain cooking heat unless your outfit is all electric.

Turkey is done when thermometer registers 185°F., or when thickest part of drumstick feels soft and twists easily. There must be no pink juices... but a deep golden brown.

Basting Sauce: 2 cups dry sauterne; 3 T. Worcestershire sauce; 1½ cups olive or salad oil (or half of each); 1 crushed garlic clove; juice of 1 lemon; salt, pepper and cayenne to taste, crushed rosemary and sage.

History of art in Carmel fascinating study beginning with Mission days

by Betty Lochrie Hoag

(Research Director,

Carmel Museum of Art)

Conclusion.

This architecture of hand-carved wooden beams with hand stencilled, painted designs; these buildings with cozy sun-courts featuring coy statues, with walls studded by brilliant Moorish tiles — all reflected the anti-mechanical sentiment which permeated Carmel then. Batiks were popular, as were pen-paintings on chiffon, hand-loomed fabrics, pottery, and wrought-iron art work (The Forge-in-the-Forest was a well-known center for the latter.)

An Arts and Crafts Club was formed in 1905. It acquired a clubhouse in 1907, and there an art school was begun. Mrs. Sydney Yard directed its first studio open-house in a small wooden-floored, canvas-topped building on the present site of Harrison Memorial Library.

The School of Arts and Crafts held summer sessions which became famous and attracted guest artists, both as teachers and students. Mrs. Yard was Director of the first of these in 1910; Mr. Channel Pickering Townsley came from his Los Angeles school to be Director for many years; and Mary DeNeale Morgan held the post from 1918 until 1924.

A famous artists' model, Signor Antonio Corsi, was employed and can be recognized in many pictures of the period. Teachers included such fine artists as Matteo Sandona, Jessie Arms and Cornelis Botke, Percy Gray, Paul Mays, Catherine Seidenbeck. But the highpoint of all painting in Carmel's Art history was undoubtedly the summer of 1914 when William Merritt Chase taught at the Arts and Crafts Summer School. The influence of this great man is expressed in the work of most artists who were fortunate enough to have been here at the time.

A suitable place to exhibit pictures was a constant problem for early Carmel artists.

When the city added an auditorium to Sunset School in 1931, paintings were placed in the foyer for the inaugural ceremony.

Many artists resorted to Sunday afternoon "Open Studios" complete with refreshments, which was an expense and inconvenience to them.

In 1927 a group of painters banded together to form the Carmel Art Association for the avowed intent of obtaining a permanent gallery.

All through the depression they faithfully held meetings (usually in Miss Culbertson's studio) and evolved various plans to raise money. Especially successful was an exhibition of work by the four local National Academicians, Paul Dougherty, Arthur Hill Gilbert, Armin Hansen and William Ritschel; because of it, the community became aware of the importance of some artists in their midst and helped to meet the financial need.

The Carmel Art Association moved into its new home in February of 1934, after Mrs. Nora Grabill and banker Barnet Segal had successfully negotiated involved financing to purchase the old Ira-Remsen studio on Woodward property on Dolores St. near 5th.

Many additions have since been made to the building, but the Association is still handsomely and happily housed there.

The period of the Federal Arts Projects of the late 1930s and early 40s saw no large-scale murals created in Carmel. Public art classes were held at the high school under federal auspices, and individual artists worked on the easel projects. Most of the Monterey Peninsula artists who did major works for the government were from Monterey rather than Carmel.

A private art school was founded in 1938 at Carmel; it is still operating. Begun by Armin Hansen and Kit Whitman, it was bought two years later by Pat and John Cunningham, and incorporated in 1954. Local artists have been influenced by the school's many guest lecturers and teachers, among them Fernand Leger, Alexander Archipenko and Frederic Taubes.

At the outbreak of World War II, Cunningham invited San Francisco sculptor Beniamino Bufano to attend the opening of the Bach Festival, when Bufano's large stainless steel statue of the composer would be unveiled. On the morning of the event it was discovered that the 800 lb. head had been spirited away — and it has never been found!

It should be noted that since the turn of the century there have been three adjacent areas (excluding Monterey) which housed studios of artists who are considered as part of the Carmel colony: Carmel Valley, Pebble Beach and Carmel Highlands.

The first, Carmel Valley, has had homes of Laura Maxwell, George Kotch, Catherine and George Seidenbeck, and (more recently) of E. Charlton Fortune and Jean (Kellogg) and James Dickie.

The second, Pebble Beach, was especially planned to lure artists when it was developed in 1919 by the Del Monte Properties under the leadership of Samuel F.B. Morse (himself an artist of note). Low prices were set on lots offered to important painters, and it is of interest that for a time any purchaser of property at Pebble Beach was given a fine Armin Hansen etching as a bonus.

Some of the artists who built early homes there are Jeannette Maxfield Lewis, Kit Whitman, "Chris" Jorgensen (a second studio in the area for him), Jo Mora (whose stone sarcophagus of Father Serra is a favorite work of art at the Carmel Mission), and Ferdinand Burgdorft (who also built a second studio here).

And Surrealist Salvador Dali lived for seven summers at the Del Monte Lodge, considerably enlivening life on the Peninsula.

The third area is the Carmel Highlands, where Burgdorft had the first studio on the old Victorine rancho in 1910.

That same year the Carmel developers, Devendorf and Powers, bought a large tract and (like Morse) used special inducements to attract famous artists. Paul Dougherty, it is said, was given his home simply to live there and add prestige to the area.

Nearby, another great marine painter, William Ritschel, built his spectacular stone castle on the cliffs. John O'Shea also lived in the Highlands, while further down the Big Sur was Thomas Shrewsbury Parkhurst. It was also the home of Jean Kellogg (now Mrs. Dickie) and her famous poetess mother and scientist father.

To list the art galleries which have existed in Carmel for the past six decades would be impossible; it would even be difficult to name those presently in the small town, for the number is a variable 50 to 60. However, attention should be called to the fact that the Carmel Art Association held exhibitions for a time at Bert Heron's "Seven Arts Gallery," and at the old Denny-Watrous Gallery before moving into its present building, where an interestingly representative showing is always held.

One should remember Tilly Pollock's shop where so many of the crafted art was displayed — fine leatherwork, jewelry, woodblocks by men such as Don Blanding and Phil Nesbit, exquisite driftwood sculpture of Nora Grabill (which is still popular in Carmel).

And the Feininger Gallery which carried modern European art, and later became the American Federation of Arts Gallery, to change its name in 1966 to the Monterey Peninsula Museum of Art, recently moving to Monterey; here were shown many exhibitions of modern painters, many educational shows were produced, many classes given for children.

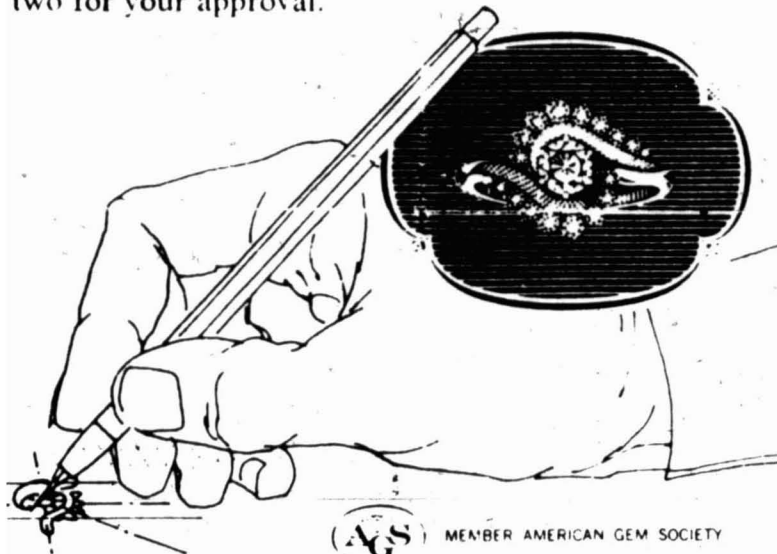

The First institution exclusively devoted to preserving historical paintings of the area is the Carmel Museum of Art, which opened its doors in the fall of 1967; from its own collection of paintings and borrowing from other fine museums such as Oakland's, special exhibitions have been produced four times a year as a service to the public.

Photography has naturally been important to artists in this lovely setting, and some of America's finest cameramen have lived here — Arnold Genthe in the 1900s, during the following decades in the Carmel Highlands the two greats, Edward Weston and Ansel Adams. Recently founded Friends of Photography is an excellent gallery located at Sunset Center, where outstanding shows of camera work are held.

Sunset Center itself belongs to the City of Carmel and rents space to various artists, as well as its better-known use as home of the Bach Festival. In these artists' studios the public is always welcome to watch work-in-progress; and it is interesting that much of it is carried on the old craft-tradition which is associated with the name Carmel-by-the-Sea.

Jewel Originals

Sometimes it's nice to be different; to do or own something that sets you apart from the crowd. When this takes the form of a special jewelry accessory, it is equally nice to know that the pleasure and value will be a lasting joy to you and generations to come. We will be happy to create a special design for you alone, using either new gems of your choice, or those from your present pieces. The cost may be less than you think for what can become your very own "signature in gems." Stop in soon and let us develop a sketch or two for your approval.

An Ad In The Pine Cone Is A Better Value

Teen drivers getting better says CHP

The boys are driving better all the time.

Belying their reputation, teenage males are improving their accident records.

While the number of teenage males in the state rose by almost 40,000 between 1967 and 1968, the number of male teenage drivers involved in fatal and injury accidents decreased for the second consecutive year: 34,206 in 1966; 33,552 in 1967; and 33,366 in 1968.

Female teenage drivers did not fare so well. The female drivers involved in accidents increased year by year: 11,467 in 1966; 11,487 in 1967; 11,672 in 1968.

The accident statistics are included in the California Highway Patrol's recently released Report of Fatal and Injury Motor Vehicle Traffic Accidents in the State of California in 1968.

The most dangerous age on the highways is 18, the statistics indicate.

The most dangerous day of the week for teenage drivers was Saturday, and the most dangerous hour was 5 to 5:59 p.m. Friday.

Thanksgiving services at Christian Science Church

A Thanksgiving Day service, including a period for expressions of gratitude by members of the congregation, will be held at First Church of Christ, Scientist on Thursday, November 27, 1969.

The public is welcome to attend the hour-long service which starts at 11:00 a.m. in the church at Monte Verde & 6th Street, Carmel.

The soloist, Chris Hungerland, will sing Creation Hymn by Beethoven, accompanied on the organ by Betty Robinson Fors.

The First Reader, Jim Scales, conducts the services, and read passages from the Christian Science textbook, Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures by Mary Baker

Group says blindness is preventable

In the next 12 months, disease, accident, neglect and ignorance will bring blindness to an estimated 22,500 Americans. Yet the real tragedy is that half of these victims need never lose their sight — because Half of All Blindness Is Preventable.

This is the concern of the National Society for the Prevention of Blindness.

Basically the Society's fight against blindness centers around cataracts and glaucoma, the two major causes of adult blindness today; vision testing, particularly in preschool-age children, to detect and treat vision problems before they cause serious damage; and the introduction and reinforcement of safety measures in schools and industry.

Eddy. Bible selections are read by the Second Reader, Mary Ann Hattie.

Four sections of short passage in the Lesson-Sermon develop the theme of the Golden Text from First Thessalonians: "Rejoice evermore. Pray without ceasing. In everything give thanks: for this is the will of God in Christ Jesus concerning you."

The first section, with selections from Psalms, sets forth the primacy and power of God, the creative Mind. One of the passages from Science and Health is: "If Mind was first chronologically, is first potentially, and must be first eternally, then give to Mind the glory, honor, dominion, and power everlasting due its hold name."

The second section briefly relates the story of Ruth, whose faithfulness to God was abundantly rewarded, and includes a familiar passage from Science and Health: "Divine Love always has met and always will meet every human need."

In the third section, the power of faith in God is illustrated by Jesus' healing of the blind beggar. One of the explanatory passages from the Christian Science textbook is: "The physical healing of Christian Science results now, as in Jesus' time, from the operation of divine Principle, before which sin and disease lose their reality in human consciousness and disappear as naturally and as necessarily as darkness gives place to light and sin to reformation."

The final section focuses on the solution of world problems, as promised in the words of the prophet Isaiah: "The Lord hath made bare his holy arm in the eyes of all nations; and all the ends of the earth shall see the salvation of our God."

SOCIAL SECURITY AND YOU

by Raymond MacDonald

Q. My nephew is only 21 years old but is disabled and cannot work because of wounds he received in Vietnam. He was in the Army 3 years. Can he get Social Security disability benefits?

A. Very probably. Active service in the Armed Forces is covered under Social Security. Since your nephew is only 21 he would need credit for only 1½ years work under Social Security. If he is so severely disabled that he is unable to work, he may be eligible for benefits.

Q. What can I do if I can't pay the amounts that Medicare does not pay — the first $44 of my hospital bill; for example; or the first $50 of my doctor bills?

A. You may want to visit your local welfare office to find out about help under a State program such as Old Age Assistance or Medical Assistance, often called Medicaid.

Q. I have never worked under Social Security and have no Social Security credits. However I will be eligible for widow's benefits on my deceased husband's Social Security record when I am older. Will I be eligible for both hospital and medical insurance under Medicare when I reach 65?

A. Yes. Since you will be eligible for Social Security benefits, you will be eligible for hospital insurance and you can sign up for the voluntary doctor bill insurance (Mail your questions to Social Security, c/o the Carmel Pine Cone, Carmel, or phone Social Security office 373-3351)

Peace Corps in need of 1800 volunteers

More than 1,800 applicants, particularly persons with business, economics, industrial arts, vocational education and agriculture backgrounds, are needed by Jan. 1 to fill Peace Corps Volunteer programs overseas, it was announced today.

The announcement came from Glen Fishbach, recently appointed Western Region director for the Peace Corps, who is newly returned from six years overseas as Peace Corps country director in Iran and deputy and associate director in India.

"The nations we serve are now asking us for more and more skilled and technical persons," Fishbach said, "and we envision a Peace Corps in the very near future made up of more than 20 per cent experienced, non-college volunteers."

At present, there are approximately 10,000 volunteers serving in 59 nations, Fishbach continued.

Further information about current Peace Corps programs is available by calling or writing to Bill Niederberger, Monadnock Building, 681 Market St., Rm. 630, San Francisco 94105; telephone: (415) 556-8400.

Christian Science Bible Lesson

The subject of the Lesson-Sermon to be read in Christian Science churches Sunday is "Soul and Body."

The public is invited to attend services.

Passages to be read from the Bible include this verse from Psalms: "Why are thou cast down, O my soul? and why art thou disquieted within me? hope thou in God: for I shall yet praise him, who is the health of my countenance, and my God."

A related passage from Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures by Mary Baker Eddy states: "Truth will at length compel us all to exchange the pleasure and pains of sense for the joys of Soul."

Christian Science Radio Program

A Thanksgiving program will be presented Sunday, Nov. 23 in the Christian Science radio series "The Bible Speaks to You." Station KRML will carry this program entitled "Taking Time for Gratitude," at 7:45 A.M.

Who's To Know

One of the youngest personalities here in the Carmel Valley Village to have made an impact on the public, is the Queen of the Kitchen, at the Keeping Room, Claudia Hartke. Born a short twenty one years ago, in Middletown, Connecticut, to Barbara and William Hartke, she became the playmate to their older daughter, Susan, two years her senior. Ten years later, a baby brother made his appearance, was called William and found himself the center of a doting family.

As a child her natural tendency toward sweet things, marked her interest first in cookies, then cakes, and finally bread, and by the time she had reached the seventh grade she was well launched together with her sister, as a very competent culinary director in her Mother's kitchen.

The girls would plan whole meals, from soup to nuts, and write out menus which, with their Mother's approval they would then invite the family to enjoy, one night each week, brooking no interference from the rest of the family whatsoever. At a very tender age, Claudia became a very self sufficient cook, therefore, and knew that when she went to college she wanted to go to a Culinary School rather than any other.

At seventeen she entered Fanny Farmer's Cooking School in Boston where she remained one year learning the rudiments of basic good American cooking. It was also here that she met George White, a young man her own age, who also had a vital interest in cooking, stemming from summer jobs, helping in resort hotel kitchens, absorbing and learning from prominent chefs. His interest was in meats, rather than baking, which made for a well balanced diversification of talents of the pair.

By this time the Hartkes were living in Burlington, Vermont, where Claudia returned after her graduation from Fanny Farmer's.

George returned to Camp Kingston, in Bridgeton, Maine, as chef during the summer, after which he returned to his family's place in Wilton, Maine, near Lewiston. Claudia went to work at the University of Vermont in Burlington, where she was put in the Salad department, putting out 2500 salads a day.

George followed, and became the second chef, doing the meats and vegetables and potatoes, etc. They remained here a year at which time George was drafted and finally went over seas to Vietnam.

In the mean time, Claudia's father had become a national Reserve Pilot, and every chance he had, would fly to Monterey, where he fell more in love with the place with each visit. He had the Monterey paper sent to him and finally his joy knew no bounds when he spotted an ad for an electronics technician to be part of the then planned Earth Station at Jamestown, up Cacttagua way from Carmel Valley Village.

His training program for this took him to Boston, then Washington state. By this time the giant tracking and receiving device was finished, and then sixteen or seventeen men were brought in to finish their on-the-spot education. Mr Hartke has always had a deep interest in outer space, having made his own telescope in Vermont, and again another when he arrived in California, so one can imagine his great thrill in being a part of the outerspace activity of today.

Claudia drove out to be with her family when George went to Vietnam, after agreeing to wait for him until he came back. She saw Dru's ad in the local papers for a person who loved to bake bread, came bread in hand, served it to Dru, and went home assured of her job, which in no time at all resulted in her becoming the Queen of the Kitchen.

While it is true that the cuisine served at the Keeping Room is not to be found in the pages of Fanny Farmer's Cook Book, it took her no time at all to master Pecan Pie, Swiss Quiche Lorraine, Pot au Feu, and a bevy of beautiful sandwiches. Her way with Dru's Serendipity Bread filled with cheddar cheese and onions and poppy seeds, Lemon Herb bread, Spiced Bread with orange and cinnamon and cloves is no less than inspired and we hope with Patsy Wester's new Ballet Studio is far more than a studio per se, it is a uniquely unusual building, or edifice perhaps is a better word. It offers a fabulous challenge to the landscape designer in as much as it offers so many walls unbroken by window areas.

A perfect background for espaliered flowering fruit trees, and shrubs etc. Fun to see what happens next. The rest of the Plaza de Flores group wish with all their hearts that the baby flowering plum trees were large enough to decorate for Christmas this year, but by next year there is hope that they will be.

Dru is doing all her tables and barrel seats anew with a paper doll motif, which she is using also to decorate one of her Christmas trees. The Golden Chain tree by her front door on the inside terrace is a flutter with little white doves and will be augmented with winged angels any moment now.

Her madly blooming impatiens, brought in from the garden, pick up the colors in the exciting wrapping papers she offers exclusively and which she has used to wrap a heap of Christmas presents in close proximity. A bright welcome... a Keeping Room welcome... as one comes through the front door.

Dean Diaz' Gifteria Mexicana will offer many items that fit in so well in our adobe surroundings in this part of the country. Lovely candelabras in wood and in iron. Earthenware bowls suitable for planting. Tonalware, the most refined of all the Mexican artware, so softly colored and so exquisitely decorated, and so unlike any other of their pottery in smoothness to the touch. Delightful shapes, too... doves, rabbits, birds.

Marzi Pottery has a happy selection of ashtrays, bowls, vases, platters, marvelously interesting stoneware figures or animal shapes, windbells, mobiles with wondrous whimsy, brightly colored ties, and great floor vases for "line arrangements", and great pots for outdoor or patio use. A world of goodies for Christmas giving here.

For any friends with artistic leanings, how about a set of pastels, or a starter set of acrylics, or some canvas boards with a few oils and a brush or two... a thoughtful gift and an inspiring one from the Village Art Center. By next Spring Virginia de Maria will be having her own gift shop going at the Rippling River Resort which will make a happy addition. The In and Outdoor Shop looks like Christmas with all the wrappings, and cards, and gold and glitter and sparkle and shimmer of their beautiful crystal, and stainless steel, serving pieces, and porcelains, and metallic filigree, and trinket boxes, and bright ceramics... a marvelous collection from all over the world.

Elegant door wreaths and bough arrangements and centerpieces, and mantle swags and trees... colorful with velvet fruit, birds, and flowers, plus candles, and all the proper candle wreaths and place appointments... are all waiting for your appreciation and pleasure too.

Next door, give or take a few doors, Marian Wilson, one of the most talented connoisseurs of fine art on the Monterey Peninsula, has a truly impressive collection of watercolors, etchings, pencil drawings, pen and inks, oils, pastels, and mixed media.

The names on her roster of artists is staggering: Donald Teague, Jesse Corsaut, Jack Swanson, Frank Meyers, Abel Warshawsky, Armin Hansen, William Ritschel, Louise Marianne, Keith Lindberg, Nancy Johnson, Andrew Kozak, Maurice Logan, James March Phillips, Helen Barker, Mary Agnes Lansdowne and Melvin Bolstad.

All of us should make it a must to drop in for a visit and an edifying hour, when we have such a wealth of good art to peruse and enjoy

Danish notes

Starting October 1, 1969, restaurants and hotels will stop adding tips to the bills in Denmark. The entire salary pattern will be changed so that waiters will be fully salaried, and tax and tips will be included in the prices on the menu and on the bill.

As a result of the ever increasing number of tourists visiting Denmark from all over the world, the most popular sightseeing tours will now run throughout the year, thereby further strengthen the lively season from November through April.

The Grand Tour of Copenhagen will have two daily departures, and the classic tour along the Danish Riviera to Elsinore will be available throughout the Winter (daily Mar. 1 through Nov. 15, Wednesdays and Sundays from Nov. 16 through Feb. 28).

More than 6,000 visitors to Denmark spent a week or more at a Danish farm, and this started a brand new kind of family vacation in Denmark; fun, economic and packed with lifeseeking experiences.

Denmark's many attractive Youth Hostels will also be made available to family travel, offering family rooms at extremely reasonable prices.

Although California has only 13 per cent of the nation's canning plants, it produces more than one-third of this country's canned fruits and vegetables.

For the first time in 127 years, TIVOLI will remain open until Sept. 21, because of the meeting of the World Bank and the International Monetary Fund in Copenhagen, with close to 4,000 participants. Tivoli's season starts May 1.

A beautiful new Technical Museum has just been completed at Elsinore, only a few miles from Hamlet's Castle. The museum contains many interesting items of Denmark's contribution to the technical developments (with some of the world's oldest planes and motor-cars) that will fascinate modern people.

During the Fall of 1970, Denmark's unique Zoological Museum will open in Copenhagen with outstanding panoramas and great collections of all kinds of animals.

At the new Viking Hall in Roskilde, the re-creation of the five Viking Ships found on the bottom of the Fjord, will go on and be open to the public who can see the archeologists at work.

It will be a great year in Denmark!

NIPPON TOUR — Mr. and Mrs. Henry T. Nishi of Carmel departed from San Francisco International Airport on a Japan Airlines jetliner to attend a California Nurserymen's Tour. During their stay they will visit Tokyo's 340 year old Korakuen Garden, Nikko National Park, Hakone hot springs, Kyoto, the ancient Japanese capital and cultural center, and Osaka, the site of the 1970 Japan World Exposition.

'Doing It Danish' next on Explorerama series

"Doing It Danish," a new 2-hour color travel and adventure film, will be narrated in person by its photographer Arthur Wilson at 8:15 p.m. Friday, Nov. 28, at the Sunset Auditorium in Carmel.

The film is a blend of the old and new of Denmark and Greenland. The program presents an exciting contrast of the outer space atmosphere of the floating crystal ice formations in Greenland to the sophisticated atmosphere of Copenhagen.

Reserved tickets are available at the Central Box Office, Mission & 6th Ave., Carmel, phone 624-6739, and at Abinante Music Store, 425 Alvarado, Monterey, phone 372-5893.

Letter to a forefather:

Dear Governor Bradford:

The crops are in and the winter season is coming on, and once again we are making our plans to give thanks in the traditional way which you inaugurated that fall day in 1621.

One of the world's finest jewelry collections will be displayed this Saturday afternoon at the Beach and Tennis Club by representatives of Van Cleef & Arpels.

progress of a task to which you had dedicated yourselves.

Privation, danger, dissent still are with us, and many are the doomsayers, the weak of spirit. There is much questioning of the old faith you found so invigorating. We have made the unimaginable exploration of a world other than ours, before we have found a way to manage rightly the one in which we live.

And yet we give thanks, for the way is there and we can follow it if only we will. The riches of the harvest and of the earth beneath us and the seas around us are rewarding us with growing bounty. It is only within ourselves that we seem at times deprived, as surely many of you must have felt during those difficult days.

Like you we must learn to live one with the other, in dignity and self-respect. And to the same God you venerated that first Thanksgiving Day, we give thanks for your example and for all the blessings that are ours if we will but reach for them.

RLS water polo team racks up 9-0 record

Undefeated this season was the Setevenson Varsity water polo squad, with an impressive 9-0 record.

Two outstanding team members were co-captains Bruce Burrell and David Haynes. Dave in the course of events scored 30 goals.

The first string included Bruce Avery, Jim Hebenstreit, and Dave Haynes-offense; Mike Morel, Arlen Chase, Bruce Burrell-defense; and Kurt Wolf goalie. Substitutes were Gary Bayer, Cory Smith, Bob Kasavan, Jim Dunn and Mathew Haynes.

The season ended with a 24-6 win over Seaside, Nov. 14th. Other teams which fell earlier to the Pirates were Carmel, Harbor, Santa Cruz, Live Oak and Soquel. Coach Don Saluta looks forward to next year's water polo season when the team will be again largely composed of returning Varsity lettermen.

Junior Varsity water polo was less fortunate; that team finishing with a 6 win 3 loss tally. High scorer was Charles Bates.

MPC loses heartbreaker to Hartnell, fans start brawl

By Marc Hinchey

Coming back with an unbelievable 14 point fourth quarter, Hartnell College narrowly defeated Monterey Peninsula College 17-12 before 10,000 shrieking fans last Saturday evening at MPC Stadium.

The victory gave the Panthers their fourth straight conference football title and third consecutive berth in the state small junior college playoffs.

Hartnell fullback Larry Crawford bucked over the Lobo goal line from two yards out with 10 seconds remaining in the game to give the Panthers the win.

Up to that time the game had clearly belonged to Monterey, as the Lobos had surged ahead in the final two minutes 12-10.

Hartnell opened up scoring in the first quarter when Chuck Noroian booted a 15-yard field goal. MPC stormed back to take the lead on a second period 52 yard touchdown bomb from quarterback Dave Stewart to halfback Mike Mitchem.

There was no scoring in the third period, but a one-yard run by Hartnell QB Jim Erickson early in the fourth stanza had put the visitors on top 10-6. However, Monterey fought back and fullback Brad Kight overjoyed Lobo fans when he crashed over the Panther goal from seven yards out. Two minutes were left on the clock.

Erickson's accurate passing and a costly penalty proved MPC's undoing. The Panthers moved inside the Monterey ten-yard line and Crawford's score iced it for the Salinas squad.

Following the final gun, an emotional free-for-all brawl broke out between the players and fans and roared on a full twenty minutes before it could be brought under control.

Padres upset Pacific Grove in final game, 22-18

By Hal Gann

It took two Pacific Grove touchdowns early in the first quarter to fire the Carmel Varsity Football team to teamwork and spirit previously unobtainable this season, as the Padres upset the Breakers, 22-18, last Friday evening away from home.

The Carmel Freshmen rolled to a 28-18 victory to cinch a tie for the MTAL co-championship, and the Padre Junior Varsity battled Pacific Grove to a 14-14 tie to grab a share of second place with the Breakers in the league.

(Next Padre Sportcast is tonight, November 20, a replay of the Carmel-Pacific Grove Varsity game, at 7:00 over KRSA-FM, 100.7 Mc, due to the many request to repeat it.)

It was a significant varsity victory for new coach Jason Harbert, and his assistant, Dick Charles, as the Padres finish in fourth place, tied with Hollister, with a 3-4 mark. Holy Cross finished in third, with Palma in second, losing only to undefeated league champion Gonzales.

Another important factor is that 10 Juniors figured prominently in the Padre victory over Pacific Grove, and they'll all be around next year - it was an all junior offensive backfield, after senior Mark Spindler was shaken up early in the game.

The Junior Stars: Jim Conlan, at quarterback, who passed for more than a hundred yards and romped for more than a total of 60 yards, his passing setting up a touchdown, and his running paving the way for another, fullback Rick Hall who banged in for two touchdowns; halfback Jim DeAmeral who scored a TD, and halfback Mark Belangee, whose end runs gained consistently and his 41-yard pass reception was one of the more spectacular plays of the game.

Juniors in the line who figured prominently were Jon Fletcher, Al Harber, Rick Bowen, Fred Nason, Hans Smith, and Pete Ingals. Senior Bob Thompson set up only Padre score when he intercepted a pass and returned it to the Pacific Grove 20.

"We're going to have the nucleus for a fine team next year," Harbert said after the game. "The main regret I have for the season is that we lost to Holy Cross. We should have had that game."

The Padres lost by just one touchdown to the Panthers, but if they had been as coordinated and as keyed up for Holy Cross as they were in the last three quarters against Pacific Grove, it would have been a Carmel victory, instead of a heart-breaking loss.

Carmel's varsity finished ahead of Pacific Grove, last year's champions, and also ahead of King City. So, this has to be rated as a successful football season by local fans. And with the Freshman and Junior Varsity teams winning so impressively, we can expect winning seasons for Carmel, starting next year.

This writer predicts that the Padres next year will be fighting for the championship of the league, come November!

We wish to thank the many fine Carmel Padre football broadcast sponsors who brought you all the games this season, including:

Mr. J. O. Handley, Sambo's Restaurant, John Roscelli Corporation, P. A. and Lew McCreery Insurance, Village Radio-Electric, and General Contractor Art Carpenter...

Because of numerous requests, the play-by-play of the Carmel victory over Pacific Grove will be rebroadcast tonight, November 20, at 7:00.

Harold Gann, KRSA-FM, 100.7 Mc.

We owe our success to your appreciation of the very finest in giftware.

Party Plans

Cook gently until well blended. Wild turkeys, geese, pheasants, partridge, grouse and duck and other game birds are marvelous prepared this way.

The dressing is baked separately. And it should be

Chestnut Turkey Dressing

One lb. large chestnuts; ¼ cup butter; 1 egg, beaten; 1 cup soft stale bread crumbs; 1 cup ground pork sausage, lightly browned; 1 t., each, chopped parsley and salt; ½ t., each, crushed oregano, basil and thyme; ¼ t., each, crushed dried tarragon, marjoram and rosemary leaves; 1 cup seedless raisins or currants, or half of each; 1 onion, chopped; ½ cup dry red wine.

Boil chestnuts about 2 minutes; remove shells and skins. Re-boil shelled chestnuts in salted water until tender; drain and put through a sieve or ricer. Combine with other items; mix well. As it bakes, add more wine if it becomes too dry.

In Albania, as in New England and California, fresh vegetables are easiest and best when cooked the modern way: wrap each type, such as string beans, zucchini, eggplant sections, onions, tomatoes in its own foil packet. Bake in oven; add butter at serving; season to taste.

They will steam of their own accord if just a sprinkling of water is added to each before cooking. These can be done directly on charcoal but watch to see that they do not scorch.

Albanian Rice

One fourth cup wine; 1 t., paprika; salt; 2 cups chicken broth; ¼ cup oil; 1 small chopped onion; 1 cup sliced fresh mushrooms; 1½ cups long grain white or brown rice; 1 medium can tomatoes; chopped parsley.

Combine dry white wine, paprika, salt to taste with the broth; add onion and mushrooms to a skillet with oil; brown lightly. Add rice and stir until coated with oil. Add tomatoes and heat to boiling. Combine all ingredients into a baking dish. Cover closely and bake until rice is tender. Top with parsley. Liquid should be absorbed.

Out-of-this-World Corn

If you wish to cook corn in the husks, as they did in Albania and in early New England, as well as yesterday and today in California, peel back husks and remove the silk, brush with melted butter, seasoned with garlic and onion salt and a dash of pepper; replace husks and tie securely.

Let stand 30 min., then place over hot coals or grill, turning several times for about 20 min.

Or use foil and just place the husked and buttered corn in sheets of foil; wrap well, place over hot coals on outdoor grill or inside the fireplace on portable hibachis. You may also place then in a roaster pan and roast in 400°F. oven for 30 minutes.

Allow at least two ears per person.

Zentner. In addition, two compositions by Tom Jones' musical director, Johnny Spence - secured by Haerle last summer at a jazz clinic in Las Vegas - will be performed.

The smaller performing groups will be the David Taylor Quartet, composed of guitarist David Taylor, pianist Jeff Rommel, bassist Bill Montgomery and drummer Lee Michaud; the Ray Catizone Sextet, featuring Greg Stegman on trumpet, Jan Spencer on baritone saxophone, Rick Lopez on tenor sax, Ray Catizone on piano, Randy Uchida on the bass and Mike Weber on drums; and the Low-Fat Jazz Quartet, with guitarist Roger Eddy, pianist Gene Christiansen, bassist Randy Uchida and drummer Mike Weber.

Tickets, at $1 for general admission and 50 cents for students, are on sale at the college music department office and community services office. They may also be purchased from Jazz Ensemble members or at the door, but since only 275 may be sold, advance purchase is advised.

This proposal also suggested that the committee should take special care in developing programs for girls.

Shy--or Double Shy?

We've had people come to us and almost apologetically ask, "Do you have to have lots of money to invest in real estate?" I guess they were double-SHY - SHY on investment capital, or so they thought, and SHY on real estate investment knowledge.

No need to be SHY about wanting to learn the "how's" and "why's" of real estate investment. Confusing ideas that may be bothering you can now be cleared up quickly in our informal and informative one-evening investment seminars. Your GOAL should be, "I want to make money." We can give you the facts and lead the way. Everyone likes big investors, but we feel it is just as important to give service to the small investor, too. (Soon he's a big investor.)

Present equities in real estate, antiques, paintings, stamp and coin collections, or many other valuable items can be the beginning of a valuable extended investment program.

Last year, the best real estate "exchange" in California started with a stamp collection.

Taxes in 1970: If all of us don't get "clobbered" too hard by the new tax program, we should be able to continue providing some quality properties bringing around a 10% cash yield. Call to learn of those available now.

If you want to find out more about taxes and investments, and want to attend our last Investment Seminar Class for 1969, better call and reserve your invitations. We like to keep the class down to a friendly size - so no one will be SHY about asking questions that will solve his investment problems.

The Sur Coast

Our Hank Adams, who devotes his full time to this fabulous land, is fond of saying that like Gaul, the Sur Coast is divided into three parts: the north, central, and south Sur Coast areas, each with its own special qualities, yet all three include ocean frontage, incredible ocean views, and also canyons and mountains. When Hank knows your particular criteria and your interests, he is wonderfully successful in finding just what you want.

Along the North Sur Coast

In this Coastal area closest to Carmel, near Malpaso Creek, magnificent ocean-view two-acre parcels at $35,000, or larger parcels. Near Rocky Point, exceptional ocean-front sites with underground utilities from $42,500 to $52,000. Delightful redwood canyon properties from $12,950 to $59,500, especially in the Palo Colorado Canyon.

On the Central Coast

Between the Big Sur River and the Pacific Ocean are varied properties from a 2½-acre parcel for $17,500 to large lands of several hundred acres. Just North of Nepenthe we have some small acreage comprising two building sites for $75,000. Further south, near Esalen, is a 5-acre ocean-front site for $50,000. And incidentally, we have a well built newer home with a guest apartment overlooking the Pacific just a mile from Esalen for $58,500 - hardly ever have a house for sale in this area.

Down the South Sur Coast

Much of this area is national forest including the greater portion of the coastline itself. However, there is some land available. For instance, we have ten acres above Redwood Gulch with a fine ocean view for $23,000. Also, approximately 12 acres of ocean frontage for $38,500, and an 80-acre parcel in a redwood forested canyon for $70,000.

We don't advertise our Coast Department very much because it is so necessary to know your individual requirements before suggesting possible properties.

Eric Barker wrote "I lose faith in words in this country," and so do we. If you are interested, the biggest favor you will ever do yourself is to call Hank Adams and let him guide your search for your particular one-of-a-kind property.
